

TALK PLANNED HERE
FOR MRS. PANKHURST

Noted English Suffragist, on Tour, Will Speak to Columbians May 18.

NOLONGER MILITANT

Visitor Will Tell Why the Perils of War Caused
End of Movement.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffrage leader, will lecture at the Columbia Theater at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, May 18.

Mrs. Pankhurst is perhaps better known in her former role, that of militant suffragette, for she was constantly at odds with the British government. She led in window-breaking and brick-throwing, and when she was put in jail she invariably went on hunger strikes.

At the outbreak of the war in August, 1914, Mrs. Pankhurst immediately stopped all the militant political agitation of the Women's Social and Political Union, and in return the government released unconditionally all suffragettes who were in prison.

Since then she has devoted her eloquence to urging patriotic national service upon men and women. She has held large recruiting meetings all over Great Britain and has been successful in persuading thousands of men to enlist.

On July 17, 1915, she organized in London and headed a procession of 50,000 women eager to serve the government. This was sympathetically received by Lloyd George. As a consequence thousands of British women are now employed in assisting the government.

Mrs. Pankhurst came to this country several months ago to assist M. Miyatovich, the former Serbian minister of foreign affairs, in pleading for financial help to save Serbia from extinction. Since April 15, she has been lecturing on suffrage in eastern colleges and universities. Mrs. Pankhurst, though she has always been the strongest advocate of militant methods in England, has never thought that American women could profit by the example of their British sisters, whose conditions are so different.

Mrs. Pankhurst will come here from Grinnell, Ia., and will go from here to Denver, ending her tour on the Pacific Coast. Her lectures here will be on "Why British Women Were Militant Before the Great War and After War Was Declared Became Reconciled to the Government."

Among the patrons and patronesses for the lecture are: Mrs. W. H. Willis, Dean and Mrs. Eldon R. James, Dean and Mrs. Walter Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Woodson Moss, Miss Eva Johnston, Dean and Mrs. Walter Miller, Dr. J. W. Hudson, Mrs. Maude Radford Warren, Prof. and Mrs. F. F. Stephens, Miss Louise Nardin, Prof. and Mrs. Jesse Wrench, Prof. Manley O. Hudson, Miss Ella Dobbs, Mrs. W. E. Harshe, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Robnett, Mrs. H. F. Sill, Mrs. L. L. Bernard, Prof. Chester Murray, Dr. and Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Brown, Mrs. H. J. Davenport, Mrs. J. J. Phillips, Miss Alice Radford, President A. JUDGE GIVES RULES OF CONDUCT

Advice to 18-Year-Old Boy Accompanies Parole.

"The judge is going to lecture." As soon as this sentence reached the ears of the attorneys smoking in the anteroom of the circuit court room today, cigars and papers were laid away and the crowd took seats near the bar.

"Bad company was the cause of your downfall," began the judge, addressing his remarks to Roy Reese, 18 years old, who was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for larceny. "You got in the wrong crowd and followed their footsteps to ruin."

"But I believe that you are a good boy. I believe that you will make good if you are given a fair chance. So I will parole you on these conditions:

"You must quit drinking. Drink has caused the downfall of many a man."

"You must not gamble, for gambling will lead you to worse things."

"You must not associate with idle or vicious persons. These persons led to your coming into this court."

"You must obtain honest labor at once."

"Now, Roy get a different view of life when you go to Hiram Phillips (he was paroled to Mr. Phillips, a civil engineer in St. Louis). Mr. Phillips is a friend of your mother's and believes in you. Show him you can make good."

"Always associate with people a little better than you are for they will pull you up. A bad crowd will always pull you down."

With tears in his eyes, Roy thanked the judge and left for St. Louis.

DUBLIN, May 12.—James Connolly, a leader for the Irish rebel army and McDiarmid, one of the signers of the proclamation establishing the Irish Republic, were executed this morning, it was officially announced late this afternoon.

By United Press.

LONDON, May 12.—Premier Asquith reached Ireland today to discuss the situation there which is admittedly growing more serious.

Orders have been issued for the postponement of further court martials. An investigation is being made of the execution of Editor Skeffington without a court martial, an act which has inflamed all Ireland.

It is hinted that several other leaders of the revolutionary party are to be executed.

RAIN PREVENTS KANSAS GAME

No Time Tomorrow to Play, According to C. L. Brewer.

Rain caused the postponement of the baseball game scheduled to be played on Rollins Field this afternoon between Kansas and Missouri. It was at first thought that the game would be played at some time tomorrow, but the chance is very slight, according to Athletic Director C. L. Brewer.

"There seems to be no time tomorrow to squeeze in the game," said Mr. Brewer this afternoon.

Kansas—Rain: Are They Synonymous?

During the present school year the words, "Kansas" and "rain," are inseparable. The annual Thanksgiving football game was played in a blinding rain; the first baseball game in the Kansas-Missouri series was played in a dismal drizzle; the track for the Kansas-Missouri dual meet Saturday is water-soaked, and unless the sun shines tomorrow the time will be slow.

LIQUOR, LIQUOR ALL ABOUT
BUT NOT A DROP TO DRINK

"Ah Moon of My Delight that knows no wane," said the fate that now awaits thee. Yes, the fate that threatens ninety-six pints, forty-eight quarts and some odd gallons of the cup that cheers, and does inebriate, is enough to make the permanently pickled old Omar Khayyam burst his cements and scourge the Columbia exponents of law and order from the halls of justice. It was confiscated by the enterprising police at Moore's Switch last Tuesday morning and is still held at the City Hall. It was being toted into Columbia by some negroes, who claimed it was for home consumption, but the police were suspicious.

Down the sink! Oh no! Well, into the cinder pile, then, that old cinder pile beside the county jail that has been irrigated with at least fifty gallons of whisky in the last two years! Ninety-six pints of Lewis Hunter whisky, bonded in 1911, bottled in 1916, to go down the sink with the dishwasher at the county jail! The three and a half gallons in big flasks which repose under the desk of the chief of police, have no family tree, and their fate is not a matter of so much concern as that of the aristocratic pints.

The chief says there is no temptation in the pints, but the beer—well, the days are hot. He wishes it were out of the way, as two pints have been broken and small aloud to high heaven.

Whisky has many uses. It is sometimes fed to lapdogs to stunt their growth. It may be burned in chafing dishes, and it looks well adrift on plum puddings. Beer is not so versatile. It is sometimes taken on fishing trips and maidens use it on their hair to cause a luxuriant growth.

STATE'S BEST YOUNG
ATHLETES IN MEET

Records of Several Entrants
Compare Favorably With Collegiate Marks.

51 TEAMS IN GAMES

University Is Host to Many Visitors Here for Tomorrow's Annual Contest.

The thirteenth annual interscholastic track and field meet on Rollins Field tomorrow afternoon will bring together many of the best high school athletes in the state. The records of several who are entered compare favorably with collegiate marks.

Williams of Mount Vernon is heralded as a "second Simpson." In the recent Southwest Missouri meet at Springfield, Williams won 33 of his team's 43 points. Mount Vernon won the meet handily. He is a sprinter, hundred, jumper, and pole vaulter.

Seyfert, sprinter, Dorman and Snoberger, quarter-milers, are Joplin athletes who have established records in that locality.

The Kansas City high schools will send many athletes who are expected to figure prominently in the scoring. Marshall of Manual is the lad who put the shot 49 feet 2 1/2 inches in the city high school meet last Saturday, breaking Lee Talbot's long standing record. Jarvis of Westport is the speedy 440 man who nosed out Coffin of Northeast in the city championships. Coffin is an excellent half-miler. Hodges, broad jumper, and Osborne, high jumper, are two other Westport athletes who will add to the class of competition in their respective events. Hodges has a record of over 22 feet.

A Varsity baseball game and two track meets make up a full weekend. Besides the Kansas University teams, there are fifty-one high school teams to be cared for and entertained. The teams have been arriving throughout the day. Arrangements have been made to take care of all visitors, and unless bad weather prevents, tomorrow gives promise of being the biggest High School Day on record.

The fame of Bob Simpson has done a great deal toward making the athletically-inspired youngsters turn their eyes on Missouri as their future Alma Mater.

Members of the Varsity track team will have complete charge of the interscholastic meet. John C. Grover will be starter in the Kansas-Missouri meet in the morning. The other officials will be chosen from the visiting high school coaches.

Will Give Graduation Recitals.

Miss Gertrude Buckley and Miss Ruth Callison will give a graduation recital at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the Stephens College Auditorium. Another program will be given tomorrow night by Miss Allene Sanford, a senior in the University, and Miss Lella Parkin.

CARRANZA'S TROOPS
MAKE SHOW OF FORCE

Ten Thousand Move Into Bandit-Infested Region of Northern Mexico.

PARLEY AT AN END

Oregon's Insistence on Americans'
Withdrawal Blocks Conference.

By United Press.

EL PASO, Tex., May 12.—Ten thousand Carranzista troops are moving into the bandits' bailiwick in Northern Mexico this afternoon to prove that the Mexican de facto government is capable of handling the situation before negotiations with Washington begin.

Oregon's insistence upon the withdrawal of the United States' punitive expedition resulted in breaking off the conference between Generals Obregon and Scott here.

General Obregon departed today for Mexico City and General Scott for Washington.

SCHULTE TALKS TO Y. W. C. A.

M. F. Coach Tells of Girls' Influence on Men.

"My knees are shaking! I'm afraid of girls!" said H. F. Schulte, football and track coach at the University, as he addressed a meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association last night. "If I were talking to my football squad, it would be easy, but girls scare me to death."

The big coach stood in a Read Hall parlor completely surrounded by girls and talked to them on "Girls' Influence."

"Many men have been kept out of school activities because the girls have been in the way," he said. "Girls in this school, individually and collectively, have a great influence on the boys. University training is supposed to give boys and girls a broadened view of life, but it cannot do so if they lead each other to keep out of school activities. A girl who keeps a man out of University activities is not only hurting herself but is narrowing the man in whom she is interested. The boy in athletics has certain requirements to follow. The girl chumming with him can help him to fulfill these."
